organizing and general concert in case of emergency or necessity. One of the resolutions disclaims all belief in any cause for apprehension of a successful rebellion, but says that to guard against the operations of their adversaries it was the bounden duty of all loyal subjects throughout the Province to organize themselves into associations fer the support of order, protection of life and property, and the maintainance of the connection existing between the Province and the British Empire. Mr. M'Ginn presented a resolution expressing the abhorrence of the Irish population of the attempts made to draw them over to the revolutionary party, and their readiness, should it be necessary to repel by force those "whose every action bespeaks them the enemies alike of themselves and their countrymen in general."

After the foregoing article was written, the following paragraph reached us by yesterday's mail, from the New York Express .-The crisis appears to be very rapidly appronching:

We are requested to state that the Convention of the Baptist Denomination in South Carolina will hold its seventh Anniversary in this place on the skies, or to have been thown up from Saturday the 9th of December next. The Rev. the deep, so utterly foreign was it in aspec Josiah B. Furman is appointed to preach the In- and magaitude from any thing which had troductory or Convention Sermon on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, and the Rev. Richard Fuller the Contribution Sermon on Lord's Day morning at half past 10 o'clock.

The Legislature of South Carolina will assemble on Monday next.

Gen. Green has retired from "the Merchant." Mr. Cralle is now the sole Editor.

Ker Boyce, Esq. has been unanimously elected President of the Bank of Charleston.

AURORA BOREALIS.—This beautiful phenomenon was seen by us on Tuesday night the 14t inst loveliness. The arch of white or fiery light, the combination of variegatedcolor, presenting every possible hue and shade, the very perceptible undulation of the masses of light, the temporary faintness, the reviving splendor and the final but slow and gradual disappearance of every trace of the phenomenon, at the approach of mornthese altogether present a scene to which art not genius can give no idea. Philosophers are puzzled to account for the Aurora. It has been ascribed to electricity, to volcanic power, to the reflection of the sun and moon by clouds of snow and ice. and to Magnetism. Who knows but that Col. Stone, and his magnetic Ladyon that night, made another trip through the heavens to some distant point, and that the occurrence of these phenomena n our latitude where they have so carely been the course of studies in some leading Institution, whose name and place we have now forgotten .-Who knows but that this may constitute an important era in Education! That the system is in many points radically defective is generally acknowledged, and every day witnesses the forthcoming of some new essay or book, designed for the very landable purpose of its improvement .-The great value and utility of the Newspaper establishment is felt in this country more than any lished in pamphlet form, by Jenkins and other. It is here the grand medium of intelli- Hussey, No. 36 Broad-street. It is a highgence, and without a figure, may be said to have a most important bearing upon our political In-magnetic voyages!

It is the age of experiment, and the one to which we are now adverting, is no doubt, as wreck, more necurate than any which has worthy of attention as many others. We re- previously appeared, being carefully premember that one of the greatest men of our country ascribes the superiority which he had at school over his fellows, to the fact, that his father took a also a correct list of the passengers both saved newspaper, (a rare thing in that day,) and that he and lost was in the habit of reading it.

We cannot help thinking of the increased demand for newspapers, which this golden era will bring along with it; the number of new subscribers that will bless us and our fraternity.

STEAM BOAT ACCIDENTS .- Public attention beginning to teem with remedies for the evil.-The citizens of Charleston have given no little Ordin nce of the City Council upon the subject. We are afraid that the labors of their Examining Committee will not amount to much. They will always be liable to imposition from the owners and masters of vessels. We cannot very well understand how this Committee can thoroughly investigate the condition of a vessel, in water .-They must after all rely to a considerable extent, many the report of men who are interested in tilling as good a tale as possible.

Seem Boat murder, we submit, should be precished as any other nurder. We give the remaly of the London Post, and we believe that it will prove almost a specific. "We dislike extrems measures, but our opinion briefly is, that an engineer should be hanged every week, and a proprietor every fortnight, until the accidents cease. The executions would not last long."

Hew Haven, (Con.) Cet. 28. ## Miscellaneous.

From the Times & Gazette.

New York Elections .- According to the Journal of Commerce of the 10th instant, there now remains not a doubt but that the State of New York has gone against Van Buren by a large majority. The city has elected the whole Whig ticket to the Legislature; and positive returns from sixteen counties give the Whigs 48 members, with out a single one for the Vanites. Last year, in the same counties Van had forty, whigs 8. There are nine other countie which the Journal of Commerce pronounces, certain although official accounts have not been received from them adding twenty-four members to the Whig party, and making, exclusive of all contingencies, a Whig vote of seventy-two certain. The number of members of the Assembly, when full is 128; of course the whigs are certain of a majority. No change takes place in the senate this year.

Since the above has been in type we have received the returns from 49 counties which gives the Whigs 97, and Van Buren 21 members. There remain but six counties to be heard from, which will probably elect 7 Whigs and 3 Van Buren men. Th Assembly will then stand 106 Whig, 24

> From the Delaware State Journal. AN ELEPHANT AT LARGE.

Our neighbors at Brandy wine hundred were considerably alarmed on Thursday morning, by the appearance among them of a huge and, to some of them, unknown ani mal, which seemed to have dropped from been seen in these parts before. After much speculation, it was ascertained that it was an elephant; but where it came from or how it got in the woods of Brandywine hundred, was the question. It was first discovered by a black boy who was hunting for his cows at dawn. Standing on a bank and gazing over the meadows, his eye was suddenly struck by the appearance of the monster within a few feet of him, slowly turning round a thick hedge. Blacky's fright may be readily imagined. He gave one look at the terrible animal, turned and ran over the fields velling as if a legion was behind him. The Irishmen working on the rail-road, being attracted by the cry, It is indeed a wonder of surpassing beauty and came to the spot, and, after giving vent to sundry exclamations about the wonderful baste, undertook to capture him by laying hald of his snout, and leading him to a stable or shanty: But that was easier tried than done. His majesty resisted every attempt to clutch his proboseis, lifting it in a very ominous way, and, it is said, oceasionally lending his assailants a rap, which eminded them sweetly of the shillalas of only is unequal, but of which the highest effort of Donnybrooke fair. Finding that the ani mal would neither be led nor driven, it was determined to seet re him where he was and they went to work and empounded the estray by building a fence round him. The elephant belonged to the menageric which was exhibited here last week.

On Wednesday night the whole collec-tion of animals were transported across the river in the Huckleberry steamer to be exhibited at Salem on Thursday. The smalpresented heretofore, may be traced to these ler elephant had been taken across, and was fastened to a tree on the Jersey shore, while the steamboat came back for another load. Some time since we read in our exchange pa- On their return, they found the animal had pers, that the newspaper had been introduced into escaped from his fastening, and was missing It swam the Delaware river in the night, where it is about a mile and a half across, and the next morning found himself in Brandywine undred.

Every thing is to be gained and nothing ost by learning a boy a good trade. If the lad has no genius for a more elevated pursuit, he is at least able to earn an honest livlihood at his humble, but by no means discreditable vocation-and if helhas genius the trade will not curb, cripple, nor stifle it no more than a passing cloud obscures the natural brightness of the sun. Look thro' the country and examine well the history of our great men. In nine cases out of ten they are of humble parentage, and commenced life as apprentices to honest mechanics and tradesmen, With them they imbibed habits of inclustry by which almost any thing may be accomplished .-Without them nothing. There never was a truer or more beautiful aphorism;- Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it? Bring up your children in idleness, and they will become beggars-learn them to be industrious.

Awful Prediction .- A learned astronoof Bremen, has made a calculation, which is enough to make one tremble for the dreadful fate of prosperity. According to the calculations of this sage after the clapse of 83,000 years, a comet will approach the earth in the same proximity of the moon, after 4,000,000, years it will approach to the distance of 7,700 geographcallmiles: and then if its attraction equals that of the earth, the waters of the earth will be elevated 13,000 feet and a deluge will necessarilly ensue! After the lapse of 22,000,000 of years this comet will clash

A Reuson .- Ignorance seldom desires knowledge. The very man who needs instruction worst cares the least for it. He thinks all learning useless, for he can no more perceive its advantages than a blind man can the beauties of the rainbow. Just in proportion as a man's knowledge increases, his lesire to know more increases; and the great difficulty lies in making a beginning-in persuading us to commence learning.-Those who have been educated and can perceive the power, happiness, and liberty there is in knowing, are sensible of the necessity and advantages of this paper; but there are a few who cares for none of those hings. /
